Music Teachers National Association— A Community of Committed Music Professionals

Professional Association

Since 1876, Music Teachers National Association (MTNA) has been the undisputed leader in empowering the music-teaching professional. Our mission is to advance the value of music study and music making to society and to support the professionalism of independent and collegiate studio music teachers.

MTNA is a powerful alliance, providing a collective voice for music-teaching professionals. Our members find MTNA essential to their professional well-being, as well as an indispensable partner in their growth and development as music teachers.

Our core values —visionary leadership, service and integrity— are rooted in our unwavering commitment to our members and the profession.

As a dedicated music teacher, we know you understand the importance of membership in a professional association. Our programs and services are developed with you in mind to provide opportunities for continuing education, networking, career and professional development, peer recognition and student programs. MTNA is the best investment you can make as a music-teaching professional.

National Certification

The MTNA Professional Certification Program exists to improve the level of professionalism within the field of music teaching and helps the public readily identify competent music teachers in their communities. Candidates must meet established criteria and successfully complete the professional certification process.

Educational Fund

The MTNA Foundation Fund supports programs that nurture the creation, performance and study of music by providing funds for grants, student competition, commissioning of new music and other important initiatives. The MTNA Foundation Fellow and Endowment Fund programs honor those who have made significant contributions to music.

Membership Brings Opportunities

State and Local Membership

State associations offer annual conferences and workshops, and competitive and non-competitive student activities. Local associations offer special educational programming, additional competitive and non-competitive student events and festivals, and opportunities to network with colleagues.

Collegiate Membership

MTNA student members can join an MTNA Collegiate Chapter on their college or university campuses as well as network with students nationwide through VCCI—Virtual Collegiate Chapter Initiative. VCCI links student members to other MTNA programs, local association communities and MTNA teacher mentors. These students can network with teachers in nearby local associations, participate in community music projects and experience camaraderie with fellow music students and teachers.

American Music Teacher

MTNA members receive our bimonthly, award-winning journal, American Music Teacher (AMT). This publication features insightful articles by leading music teachers, pedagogues, performers and advocates. AMT will motivate you and keep you up to date on the latest music-teaching advances.

MTNA e-Journal

MTNA e-Journal provides our members, especially those in academia, an online, peer-reviewed journal, which features in-depth, scholarly, research-oriented articles enhanced through the use of sound, image, and video links.

Student Opportunities

MTNA provides programs for students of all ages and levels of ability—National Student Competitions for outstanding student talents, Music for Everyone programs for all student musicians and Recreational Music Making for adult learners.

National Student Competitions

The MTNA National Student Competitions are the most successful and prestigious student competitions in the country. Each year, hundreds of students from junior high to collegiate levels compete for top prizes and national recognition. Sponsored by leading music corporations, these competitions attract the finest performers in piano, string, voice, woodwind, brass and chamber music. Composition competitions also are held for students from elementary through collegiate levels.

Discounts and Resources

MTNA members receive a discount when purchasing MTNA teacher-oriented publications, including guides to legal issues, taxes, effective studio communications, community outreach programs, jazz studies and more.

Educational Opportunities

As an MTNA member, you will enjoy enlightening educational opportunities through our National Conference, workshops and seminars encompassing all areas of music teaching, pedagogy, group teaching, recreational music making, technology, studio management, law, ethics and the latest developments in the music field.

Membership Categories

Active Membership is open to all individuals residing in the United States or its territories who are professionally engaged in the music field and also are members of an affiliated state association. Active membership entitles you to participate in all Association activities and programs, receive official Association publications, vote and hold office. The active membership year is July 1 to June 30.

Collegiate Membership is open to all college students currently involved in music study who also are members of an affiliated state association. Collegiate members enjoy the same privileges as active members, but are ineligible to vote, hold office or enter students in MTNA competitions. The collegiate membership year is October 1 to September 30.

International Membership is open to individuals residing in other countries outside the United States and its territories. International members enjoy the same privileges as active members, including receiving official Association publications, but are ineligible to vote, hold office or enter students in MTNA competitions. International members cannot hold concurrent membership in an affiliated state association. The international membership year is July 1 to June 30.

Six-Month Membership is available to individuals meeting active membership criteria who have never been MTNA members. The six-month membership runs from January 1 through June 30. Many states also offer six-month memberships. Contact the national office for information.
